

ProductIP is looking for a

Product Compliance Officer

Companies involved in retail and trade are increasingly being challenged by customers, shareholders, NGO's and market surveillance authorities about issues with products. Every day there are issues with the safety of products, with substances that are restricted, with energy consumption that is not in line with regulations. The regulatory agenda is becoming more and more complex and, because of increasingly adding technologies, so are products. Not being able to cope with this is potentially hampering companies' growth and reducing bottom-line results. These are aspects of businesses that management needs to control.

ProductIP is a Compliance Tracking System (CTS) that facilitates 'being in control'. We convert complex regulatory information into a step-by-step approach that starts with what the user will understand: a product. He/she will then know what questions to ask to suppliers, what documents they need to upload directly in a structured way instead of sharing this in an uncontrolled way via e-mails. MatchIT, our built-in intelligence, offers a completely new approach to how to review documents. We enable companies to deal with product compliance in a structured, efficient and proactive way. Making the right choices for suppliers and raw materials. Securing the quality of their product range. Control costs and mitigate risks at the same time. Companies sell products without hassle; we help them achieve that!

The core of ProductIP's expert platform and services is the information provided by the Regulatory Affairs and Compliance Management team. Our scope is non-food consumer and professional products. We provide a unique solution to the market and we are looking for ditto candidates. We invite you to help us realise our international growth targets and reward yourself with a versatile, satisfying job with many opportunities.

You are confident that you will match the following descriptions:

- Higher Vocational Education (bachelor) working and thinking level.
- Experience in product regulatory compliance.
- Understanding of mechanical and electrical products.
- Structured thinker, logical problem solver.
- Accurate, thorough, focused, and efficient.
- Pro-active, self-propelling attitude and team worker.
- Fluent in English (speech and writing), mastering French or German is a plus.

Some examples of the activities that will keep you busy:

- Keeping track of regulatory information around the world.
- Designing logic structures in our regulatory product database.
- Answering questions from users and colleagues.
- Writing comprehensive papers on regulatory topics.
- Participate in strategic projects.

We are offering a challenging position in a growing company with high ambitions.

Work location to be determined by mutual agreement.

Are you ready to support our customers with their compliance needs?

More information can be obtained from Arthur van der Meijden at: arthur@productip.com or T+31 318 700 622. Applications with extensive motivation to be addressed at jobs@productip.com; please state the name of the position clearly in the subject field.